Common Table Health Alliance Announces New Board Appointments

Selection process consistent with CTHA Board Succession Plan. Three directors conclude board service in May 2017.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (March 14, 2017) — Common Table Health Alliance (CTHA) recently announced three appointments to its board of directors. The organization extended invitations to Denise Burke, Partner with Waller Lansden Dortch & Davis LLP, Mark McMath, Senior Vice President and Chief Information Officer for Methodist Le Bonheur Healthcare, and Bobby Peters, Financial Advisor with Morgan Stanley, to serve their first three-year terms as directors at the February board meeting. Their appointments will succeed the terms of three members whose board service concludes in May 2017.

Denise Burke has valuable first-hand experience in hospital, home health, durable medical equipment and physician practice management. She will be a trusted advisor on healthcare operations and long-term strategic objectives. Denise is recognized in Chambers USA and Best Lawyers for her healthcare law experience. She was also selected as a member of the 2016 class of Nashville Health Care Council Fellows. Burke was highlighted in the 2015 edition of Memphis Medical News' InCharge Healthcare, an annual directory of healthcare leaders and executives.

"We are thrilled to have such a strong group of leaders serving as new CTHA board members," said Reggie Crenshaw, CTHA Board Chair. "They are true advocates for our cause, and they have a deep desire to advance a community-wide health improvement agenda," Crenshaw said.

The Common Table Health Alliance Board of Directors oversees the programs and fiduciary responsibilities of the organization. CTHA prides itself on comprising a diverse group of leaders who possess various skills that can be utilized to support the vision, mission and values of Common Table Health Alliance as well as endorse community policies that foster community health improvement, patient safety, quality and health equity.

CTHA CEO, Barry-Lewis Harris II, MD, believes the new board additions bring extensive knowledge of their respective fields to their positions. "The dynamics of this multi-talented board will have a tremendous impact on the overall growth and sustainability of CTHA as a whole," said Harris. "I am highly confident that these new appointments will allow us to continue delivering high-quality programming across the community and, ultimately, position CTHA to be a catalyst for community improvement in health and well-being."
